

As, though and although

The conjunctions though and although are usually interchangeable. However, in some cases, only 'though' is possible. After some adjectives and adverbs, as and though can be used with similar meanings.

See if you can use these conjunctions correctly.

1. Hot it was, we decided to go out.

Please select 2 correct answers

as

although

though

2. she was not ready, we went without her.

As

Though

Although

As, though and although

3. Bravely we fought, we had little chance of winning.

Please select 2 correct answers

as

though

although

4. it might seem, she doesn't like babies.

Though strange

Strange though

Strange although

Although strange

5. I can't come and spend the weekend with you,

As, though and although

..... I would like to.

Please select 2 correct answers

as much much as

although

6. I didn't know anybody at the party, I had a nice time.

Please select 2 correct answers

Though

Although

As

7. I was tired, I decided to get some rest.

As

As, though and although

Though

Although

8. I was ill for several months, I lost my job.

As

Though

Although

9. We decided to go out it was a bit late.

though

although

Either could be used here

As, though and although

10. 'Lovely evening.' 'Yes. Bit cold,'

though

although

Either could be used here

Answers

1. Hot as/though it was, we decided to go out.
2. As she was not ready, we went without her.
3. Bravely as / though we fought, we had little chance of winning.
4. Strange though it might seem, she doesn't like babies.
5. I can't come and spend the weekend with you, much as / although I would like to.
6. Though / although I didn't know anybody at the party, I had a nice time.
7. As I was tired, I decided to get some rest.
8. As I was ill for several months, I lost my job.
9. We decided to go out though / although it was a bit late.
10. 'Lovely evening.' 'Yes. Bit cold, though.'