

Join with a relative pronoun

Combine each of the following pairs of sentences using a restrictive or a non-restrictive relative clause. Put commas wherever necessary.

An example is given below.

I want a doll. It should be able to sing and dance.

We can combine these two sentences using a restrictive (or identifying) relative clause.

Note that a restrictive relative clause is not separated from the rest of the sentence with a comma.

I want a doll which can sing and dance.

Exercise

Fill in the blanks with an appropriate relative pronoun.

1. Our General Manager,
..... has retired, is planning
to go abroad.

who

that

which

2. Our child, has no
appetite for food, should be taken to the doctor.

who

Join with a relative pronoun

that

which

3. My grandmother,
can't read or write, used to tell me a lot of stories.

who

that

which

4. This medicine,
..... was
prescribed by a native doctor, relieves pain
instantly.

which

what

who

Join with a relative pronoun

5. My friend Charles,
..... was very dear to
me, passed away last week.

who

that

which

6. I met with an accident about
..... I shall tell you.

which

what

7. I would like to consult the doctor
..... treated me last
year.

whom

who

Join with a relative pronoun

which

8. Our grandmother told us a story we had not heard before.

which

what

9. One of the boys went on the study tour is missing.

who

whom

which

10. Students

Join with a relative pronoun

belong to the Scheduled Castes and Tribes don't have to pay the application fee.

who

whom

which

Answers

1. Our General Manager, who has retired, is planning to go abroad.
2. Our child, who has no appetite for food, should be taken to the doctor.
3. My grandmother, who can't read or write, used to tell me a lot of stories.
4. This medicine, which was prescribed by a native doctor, relieves pain instantly.
5. My friend Charles, who was very dear to me, passed away last week.
6. I met with an accident about which I shall tell you.
7. I would like to consult the doctor who treated me last year.
8. Our grandmother told us a story which we had not heard before.
9. One of the boys who went on the study tour is missing.
10. Students who belong to the Scheduled Castes and Tribes don't have to pay the application fee.