

Match up (adverbs of time)

Fill in the blanks with an appropriate time adverb.

1. I have known her a long time.

for

since

from

2. I once studied the guitar three years.

for

since

from

3. I have been working six o'clock, and I am getting tired.

since

Match up (adverbs of time)

for

from

4. It was the worst storm ten years.

in

from

since

5. I will be here three o'clock onwards.

from

for

since

Match up (adverbs of time)

6. now on, I'm going to go running every day.

From

Since

For

7. the dawn of civilization, people have made war.

From

In

For

8. By next Christmas, we will have been here eight years.

since

Match up (adverbs of time)

for

from

9. I think the plane is to take off.

about

around

10. The President is to visit Beijing May.

in

on

from

Answers

Match up (adverbs of time)

I have known her for a long time.

I once studied the guitar for three years.

I have been working since six o'clock, and I am getting tired.

It was the worst storm in ten years.

I will be here from three o'clock onwards.

From now on, I'm going to go running every day.

From the dawn of civilization, people have made war.

By next Christmas, we will have been here for eight years.

I think the plane is about to take off.

The President is to visit Beijing in May.