

Present Perfect Tense Passive Voice Exercise

This grammar exercise tests your ability to transform active voice sentences in the present perfect tense into passive voice.

1. I have brought this issue to his attention. / This issue to his attention.

is brought

have been brought

has been brought

2. They have bought a new apartment in the town. / A new apartment by them.

is bought

has been bought

have been bought

3. She has invited me to her party. / I to her party.

Present Perfect Tense Passive Voice Exercise

have been invited

am invited

has been invited

4. They have revealed the secret. / The secret
..... by them.

has revealed

has been revealed

is revealed

5. They have hanged the convict. / The convict
.....

has hanged

has been hanged

have been hanged

Present Perfect Tense Passive Voice Exercise

6. I have learnt my lesson. / My lesson
..... by me.

has learnt

has been learnt

have been learnt

7. He has sold his car. / His car
.....

is sold

is being sold

has been sold

have been sold

8. Masons have fixed the roof. / The roof
..... by masons.

Present Perfect Tense Passive Voice Exercise

is fixing

has been fixed

is being fixed

9. The opposition has raised several allegations against the minister. / Several allegations against the minister.

are raised

is raised

have been raised

10. I have fed the cats. / The cats by me.

are fed

have been fed

Present Perfect Tense Passive Voice Exercise

has been fed

11. He has solved the riddles. / The riddles
..... by him.

have solved

have been solved

has been solved

12. We have warned you. / You
.....

have warned

have been warned

are warned

Present Perfect Tense Passive Voice Exercise

Answers

I have brought this issue to his attention. / This issue has been brought to his attention.

They have bought a new apartment in the town. / A new apartment has been bought by them.

She has invited me to her party. / I have been invited to her party.

They have revealed the secret. / The secret has been revealed by them.

They have hanged the convict. / The convict has been hanged.

I have learnt my lesson. / My lesson has been learnt by me.

He has sold his car. / His car has been sold.

Masons have fixed the roof. / The roof has been fixed by masons.

The opposition has raised several allegations against the minister. / Several allegations have been raised against the minister.

I have fed the cats. / The cats have been fed by me.

He has solved the riddles. / The riddles have been solved by him.

We have warned you. / You have been warned.