

Simple future tense

The simple future tense is used to make simple predictions about the future. We do not usually use this tense to talk about pre-planned future events.

The simple future tense is made with will/shall + first form of the verb.

Study the following examples.

I will come.

She will go.

In British English, shall can be used instead of will with first person pronouns (I and we). In American English, shall is not normally used.

I will not do it. (US)

I shall not do it. OR I will not do it. (GB)

Exercise

Read the following sentences. They are all in the simple present tense. Change them into the simple future tense.

1. Are you ready?
2. Is the room spacious?
3. Do you have enough money to spend?
4. Does the house have a large kitchen?
5. Don't you believe in your rights?
6. Aren't there any lions in the forest?

Simple future tense

7. Does she have a car?
8. Does he have a share in the profits?
9. Don't we have to report this matter?
10. She writes stories for kids.

Answers

1. Will you be ready?
2. Will the room be spacious?
3. Will you have enough money to spend?
4. Will the house have a large kitchen?
5. Won't you believe in your rights?
6. Won't there be any lions in the forest?
7. Will she have a car?
8. Will he have a share in the profits?
9. Won't we have to report this matter?
10. She will write stories for kids.